

Virtual Information Security Manager

Our Virtual Information Security Manager Service grants you instant access to a wealth of experience in Information Security, Data Protection and Privacy. ZeroDayLab is a leading global Information Security consultancy that can manage your governance process, provide leadership and drive forward your Security Strategy. You will benefit from the analysis needed to measure success, complete flexibility on term and additional expert support when you need it most.

Without governance in place, Information Security protections quickly fall into disuse, leaving you vulnerable to threats, without a defensible position and open to fines.

A dedicated and highly skilled Senior Consultant will spend time to carefully understand your business, what's important to you and what your security requirements are. Based on this, the consultant will create a governance framework that measures success against agreed objectives and standards such as BS 100012, ISO 27001 and EU GDPR. Your Consultant will assess your needs well beyond a compliance check box exercise though, it's in their DNA. We will actively seek to drive efficiencies and prioritise projects in a way that will reduce risk at the fastest possible rate.

Passionate About Total Security Management

 Transparent management:

The Consultant will provide and maintain a range of governance, security and privacy registers, schedules, and meeting minutes. These tools bring much needed transparency for business leaders, and in the event of an incident will demonstrate the organisation's commitment to managing Information Security and Privacy.

 Flexibility and Efficiencies:

Our clients' needs and objectives change, which is why the service is flexible and why we can increase or decrease our level of engagement quickly. As your new governance framework becomes more established you may wish to take greater ownership internally, or you want to realise significant cost savings by replacing the need for an internal DPO and / or CISO.

 Support When You Need it Most:

Because security and privacy needs don't always fit neatly into a regular review cycle, telephone and email support is also available to provide remote guidance, so you can respond immediately to any business challenges.

 Collective Knowledgebase:

While you will benefit from a dedicated Consultant you will also have access to the wider Governance, Risk, Compliance and Privacy team at ZeroDayLab. You will benefit from access to the considerable breadth of knowledge across these extremely broad areas of expertise.

Your Trusted
Strategic
IT Security
Partner

Much of ZeroDayLab's success is because of our ability to be your trusted strategic partner. Unlike others, we take time to really understand your objectives, the value of the assets you are looking to protect, and your key risk drivers, such as your IT Infrastructure and your processes, policies, procedures. Only by taking our unique approach to Total Security Management are we able to recommend a Security Strategy that is appropriate and right for your business. As strategic partners we drive continuous improvement to move your business up the maturity curve, and review your security needs on an ongoing basis, so that these are inline with your ever-evolving business objectives.
